Mr. Stryker

INTERVIEW BY R. H. NEILSON
WITH
MRS. JANE STRYKER, WIFE OF MR. CHARLES STRYKER, WHO
AT ONE TIME WORKED FOR MRS. HALL,
ON
OCTOBER 22, 1926.

Mrs. Stryker met Mrs. Demarest on the street in New Brunswick a year or perhaps six months after the tragedy and they began to talk about the case. Mrs. Demarest said, "She blamed Mrs. Hall for the tragedy because she treated Mr. Hall like a child and wouldn't let him eat the cake at Mothers' Meetings for fear of digestion." Mrs. Demarest added, "She had no use for Mrs. Hall and she was the cause of the tragedy." Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Stryker says, is a kind woman and all right.

Mrs. Demarest said they couldn't laugh or talk in Mothers' Meeting without Mrs. Hall scoring them.

Mrs. Stryker promptly told Mr. Stryker of the conversation.
